

Department of Psychology

Psychological Counseling Centre

The center extends a variety of assistance to the students who willingly approach the department. In the past the students have contacted the department for Career and Vocational Counseling and Guidance. The students also approach the center during exams as their stress and anxiety levels go up. Counseling is provided to students who are facing psychosomatic and adjustment problems. Problems related to Relationship, marital issues, behavioral problems, depression, emotional instability and OCD are addressed by the center. Finally, Assessment and testing of ability, personality, and aptitude is also done by faculty.
